Newsflash

Pre-Purchase Inspection – Peace of mind from RUAG, your trusted partner for reliable and personalised service

A remarketed aircraft changes hands. The transition is smooth and the interested parties are confident in their decisions. RUAG is there – a trusted partner for this transaction. Our customer's challenge is our business. And our profound experience is personally at your service.

Sound decision-making

A priority for both buyer and seller, the pre-purchase inspection is one of the most challenging hurdles in the transaction process. RUAG is standing by as your trusted and reliable partner for reducing risk, offering clear and immediate communication, proven technical expertise and full capabilities for confirming airworthiness.

Personalised and tailored support

Your level of inspection service support, from Level I to Level III, is tailored to match your exact needs. You can rely on us for precise implementation. The process is designed to resolve issues, minimise questions and avoid misunderstandings.

Secure in the final transaction

Your dedicated RUAG Aircraft Project Leader (APL) is your personal, single point of contact and will manage the PPI on your behalf. The APL provides reports, specific documentation and final findings on the overall condition of the aircraft, highlighting SBs and ADs. Fully experienced in PPI, your APL engages in the necessary, comprehensive and daily communication between the interested parties for optimal transparency and reliable support of your decision-making process. What's more, RUAG has the complete in-house capabilities for immediately resolving any discrepancies. Your APL will advise you on the required services.

Partner of choice

RUAG takes pride in high standards of quality and personal customer service. Our long established and successful experience with PPI combines with our heritage of precision MRO and full aircraft services to guarantee our customers' peace of mind. In addition RUAG's one-stop shop solutions feature from MRO, to cabin refurbishment, system upgrades and painting as well as consultancy for all divisions. A partnership with RUAG ensures all services can be performed within the one single downtime, suiting your individual schedule.

We look forward to supporting you at this critical juncture in the acquisition of your aircraft with the best possible service. Feel free to contact us.
