

Newsflash

Your contacts, your apps of choice, and your personal devices – access affordable internet connectivity from your helicopter cabin.

Enjoy the advantages of 4G LTE roaming – post a message for your followers, conduct business with your network, capture and share, and even livestream, to your friends and family. RUAG introduces the next innovation for SkyLife connectivity and exclusive helicopter cabin interiors.

Seamless internet, fast and accessible

Expect to stay connected easily and with as much speed as you have in your home and office. On your behalf, RUAG Aviation engineers are developing an European Aviation Safety Agency (EASA) Supplemental Type Certification (STC). A seamless, fast and reliable internet connection keeps your apps active and up-to-date.

Existing 4G LTE connection mirrored in your cabin

Simplicity is central to this solution. The streamlined STC schematic employs the same architecture used for today's 4G LTE broadband technology and is designed for easy installation. Connecting with ground-based 4G LTE networks, using a dedicated, externally mounted aerial specifically designed for helicopters, the system interfaces with an on-board router to deliver high-speed Wi-fi during overland flights – even in remote and mountainous areas.

Convenient and cost-effective

Central to our concept of SkyLife connectivity is smart technologies. Outperforming traditional systems used in helicopter cabins, the 4G LTE solution proves faster and more reliable internet connection speeds, requires less space, weighs less, and significantly lowers overall operating costs.

SkyLife exclusive cabin interiors for private jets and helicopters

Feeling at home in the sky is essential. RUAG Aviation provides visionary, state-of-the-art solutions for ensuring you have abundant space, comfort and connectivity. Rely on our exclusive cabin interior programme to relax in your personally designed environment, be with the people you care about, and spend time doing what you enjoy.
